

Shammick Acoustic - short workshop

3:30 ~ 5:00 pm : 28th Jan 2012 ~ Combe Martin, N. Devon

'Would you like some soup?'

The amazing spoons workshop led by

Pat Smith

Pat Smith has long been recognised as a notably fine spoons player. Working with various bands and in various performance duos and groups over the years, she has developed ideas that demonstrate that spoons playing is not just click-click-click and hope for the best.

Pat, together with Ned Clamp, are our guests at the Shammick Acoustic concert in the evening, so we thought it was an ideal opportunity for a brief workshop (there are limits!) on this under-recognised percussive skill.

This afternoon's workshop will give techniques for spoon players and ideas for spoons and bones players alike. (Spoons will be provided for those who have none – you're not allowed to use the Pub's spoons.)

Programme

3.30 meet/intros/coffee/tea
4.00 - 5.00 the workshop

Shammick workshops are subsidised by Shammick Acoustic. Places may be limited and are allocated on a first come/first served basis - early booking is advised! Teas & coffees are included in the workshop fee.

The Pack O' Cards serves good food throughout the day. You could have a lunch beforehand or, if you are staying for the evening concert you can order your supper at the beginning of the workshop, and it'll be ready when you want it.

Use the form overleaf to book for the workshop, the concert, or both.
